

Review of CHIP's Current Status and MACPAC Analysis Plan

Chris Peterson
October 30, 2014

Agenda

- Current status of CHIP and possible extension
- Review key policy questions for addressing post-CHIP landscape
- Update of CHIP analysis plan for current report cycle

Current Status of CHIP

- Final CHIP allotments (FY 2015) under current law distributed to states October 1, 2014.
- All states are projected to exhaust their CHIP balances in FY 2016 (beginning in October 2015).
- No new congressional activity to report on extending CHIP.
- State Fiscal Year (SFY) 2016 begins July 1, 2015 (except in Alabama, Michigan, New York, Texas).

Discussion of Key Policy Questions In 2014-2015 Meeting Cycle

- How will covered benefits and cost sharing change?
- What coverage will CHIP enrollees be eligible for?
- How will premiums change (if at all)?
- Are consumer protections adequate as children move between sources of coverage?
- What is the impact on state and federal budgets?
